Current projects

Lewis College Tenure-Track/Tenured Faculty Intramural Grant 01/14/2022-01/13/2023

Development of culturally-tailored mHealth messages for Diabetes Prevention Program in new immigrants in the U.S.: a pilot study

The goal of this study is to understand new immigrants' lived experiences with prediabetes and perceptions towards diabetes. We then aim to create an archive of culturally-tailored diabetes prevention messages to prevent diabetes in recent immigrants, ages 20 and older, with prediabetes in the US.

Role: Principal Investigator

Amount: $7,000

Lewis Foundation Grant Program, GSU 07/20/2021-07/19/2023

Assessing Nutrition- and- Mealtime-Management Related Knowledge, Attitudes, and Practices Among Caregivers of Children with Cerebral Palsy in India

The goal of this needs assessment study is to understand the nutrition-and mealtime-management related factors that affect feeding practices of caregivers of children with Cerebral Palsy.

Role: Co- Principal Investigator

Amount: $10,000

Faculty International Partnership Engagement (FIPE), GSU 07/31/2020-06/30/2021

Nutrition and Mealtime Related Experiences of Caregivers of Children with Cerebral Palsy in India

The goal of this study is to identify mealtime-related needs and practices for Community Based Rehabilitation workers and to plan a larger grant proposal to develop intervention-based educational strategies for mealtime with children with Cerebral Palsy in India.

Role: Co-Investigator

Amount: $3,500

Amy Joye Memorial Research Grant Award 03/01/2019-02/15/2022

The Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics Foundation

Evaluation of a Semi-Quantitative Food Frequency Questionnaire to Assess Nutrition Transition in Asian Indian Adults

The goal of this study is to evaluate the reproducibility and validity of a FFQ to measure nutrition transition among adults in South India.

Role: Principal Investigator

Amount: $5,000
