The Excellence in Teaching Award

Lewis College of Nursing and Health Professions

PURPOSE & GENERAL INFORMATION ABOUT AWARD

The Excellence in Teaching Award, established in 2015 through an endowment of the Ken Lewis family, aims to promote the teaching and learning initiatives of faculty and reward excellence and innovation in instruction. The purpose of this award is to focus on the professional development experiences of the applicant for leadership and growth so that one is in position for more competitive awards and other instructional recognitions that reflect such talent and innovations within our College. Examples of competitive awards are teaching and instructional awards that originate within Georgia State University (GSU), throughout the University System of Georgia (USG), and from national organizations and professional associations. Types of awards include, but not limited to, the GSU Faculty Awards (http://events.gsu.edu/faculty-awards); USG Teaching Awards (http://www.usg.edu/faculty_affairs/awards); The University of Georgia Governor’s Teaching Fellows Program http://cetl.gsu.edu/programs-grants-awards/georgia-state-university-system-opportunities/external-fellowship-opportunities/; national awards such as the Carnegie Foundation’s U.S. Professors of the Year Award http://www.usprofessorsoftheyear.org); and for discipline-specific professional teaching awards.

Application Deadline: March 1, 2019

AMOUNT AND TIME FRAME OF AWARD

Lewis Foundation Grants are limited to a maximum of $10,000. All internal grant awards follow the fiscal year budget period (July 1st through the following June 30th), and must be expended within a two-year budget period of the award. Failure to complete the project and expend funds in a manner that fits within this two-year budget period may result in cancellation of the award.

GENERAL ELIGIBILITY

The Lewis Foundation Grant funds are available to full-time, tenure-track and non-tenure track faculty in any academic discipline. Faculty members may only receive one Lewis Foundation Grant during a four-year period.

Proposals must include a time-table and plan for situating a competitive application to a specific award. This may include the need for professional development resources to become competitive, the need for a mentor and/or editor, or other resources needed for success.
FACULTY MENTOR OPTION
Early career faculty applying for an Excellence in Teaching Award may choose to add a faculty mentor (internal or external to GSU), who will provide specific mentorship to the faculty and teaching award application. A strong justification should be provided to outline the role of the mentor and specific tasks to be completed that go above and beyond the mentoring expected by senior faculty as part of their typical duties and service to the university and their departments.

Mentors are expected to have a record of being recognized for teaching excellence, and if applicable, to provide at least very basic guidance and feedback to the mentee in the form of reviewing and proofing applications related to the teaching excellence award (e.g. award justification, application proofs, etc.). In addition, mentors are expected to be available to the mentee faculty on a regular basis that is decided and agreed upon between the mentor and mentee as described in this application. For the mentor’s contribution to the project, proposals may request up to $1,000 in funds (to be taken from the $10,000 total budget) to compensate the mentor for his/her effort. These funds may be used towards mentor salary, supplies, travel, or any other type of expense that is considered allowable to pay with state funds.

PROGRESS AND FINAL REPORTING
All Lewis Foundation awards will require the submission of a brief project progress report six months after the start date, a brief budget report six months prior to the end of the award and a final report within 90 days after the end of the award. Continued access to awarded funds will be contingent upon timely submission of a satisfactory progress report on the awarded project.
